CBT Impact

Scott Jochum, Industrial Technology, was selected in 2012 to serve a three-year term as the only non-industry member on the Board of the Young Executive Forum (YEF), which limits its membership to those who are 45 or younger. It is one of a number of industry committees within the Industrial Supply Association (ISA). Its purpose is to allow ISA members the ability to share ideas, network, and educate its members. YEF organizes the annual, charity golf fundraiser prior to the ISA convention. In addition, a portion of the funds go to the Educational Development Retreat (EDR) which aids in educating the members. What are you doing? Where are you going? What impact are you making? Tell me, please!

Experiential Learning/Internship
Brandon Kopf, a senior in Agribusiness, is completing an internship with Ward Laboratories in Kearney. Ward Laboratories is an agriculture testing laboratory dedicated to serving farmers and ranchers, primarily within 500 miles of Kearney, but also serving customers around the world. The lab specializes in testing soils, plants, feed, forages, water, manures, fertilizer, and other special testing projects. With an extensive agricultural background on the family farm, Brandon has enjoyed learning another aspect of agriculture in the laboratory. His main responsibilities initially included preparing and testing soil samples for fertility and feed samples for nutrition but now have evolved to include maintenance of laboratory equipment, training and supervision of other college student employees, and some sales. He also has been able to learn about business operations and has worked with management in the design and planning of a new expansion of the facility. Brandon feels that his internship has helped supplement his agribusiness education at UNK by providing a solid experience in agronomy. He will graduate this May and has received a nice job offer from Ward Labs.
