Artifac 2. Data Related to Program Endorsement Key Assessments by Level

Artifact 2 is not required for mini-folios.
Artifact 3: Interpretation and Summary of Assessment Data

While available to undergraduate students, this supplemental endorsement has not had any undergraduate students complete it in a number of years. Students completing this supplemental endorsement when it is not part of their original program, generally, come back as graduate students and complete the two required courses and the 1,000-hour work experience verification paperwork. They already have a teaching certificate in a variety of areas, from agriculture to business. One person even had an English teaching certificate.

No assessment data has been collected from these graduate students. The supplemental endorsement is part of the Business, Marketing, & Information Technology (BMIT) endorsement, and data for those students is reported with the BMIT endorsement information. Every student who has enrolled at UNK to complete the DO supplemental endorsement has provided proof of work experience from this/her employers. The employers state the number of hours that the individual has worked. Sometimes the letters, addressed to Janet Lear, UNK Business Teacher Educator, include information about the work experience; however, this information is not required. The paperwork is stored in the Business Teacher Educator’s office (West Center, 252W), and a form is submitted to the Educator Certification Office, Jennifer Jansky, in the College of Education.
Section 3: Use of Related Data and Information for Continuous Program Improvement of Endorsement Program

The Cooperative Education Diversified Occupational Supplemental Endorsement (DO endorsement) is an additional endorsement that teachers from a variety of teaching subject endorsements including Basic Business may choose to add to their portfolio. This endorsement allows teachers to supervise students who are part of a cooperative work experience program sponsored by their school.

The teacher offers a class at school, recruits businesses to be part of the program, and matches students with potential paid work experiences. After the student begins working, the teacher visits the student in the workplace monitoring the experience and working with both the student and the business to enhance the student’s experience in a positive manner.

The supplemental endorsement requires a regular teaching certificate, two courses from a 4-year post-secondary institution, and 1,000 hours of workplace experience that does not include teaching experience. One of the classes required at UNK is BSED 431/831P, Coordinating Techniques, that goes through all the various topics required for a coop work experience program including recruiting students and businesses, offering a supporting class at the secondary institution that includes workplace topics such as job application materials and skills needed for employment and information for recruiting acceptable businesses, and visiting the student at his/her place of employment. The second class required by UNK is VOED 432/832P, Foundations and Contemporary Issues in Vocational Education. This class explores the principles of career education/workplace experience and includes both the workplace principles and information on such topics and workplace skills needed for successful employment.

The supplemental endorsement went through a change a number of years ago. At that time a third course, VOED 434, Vocational Education for Students with Special Needs, was dropped from the program. After much discussion, the 1,000 hours of work experience was retained. Students seeking the endorsement who have not completed 1,000 hours of work experience may elect to complete an internship. Every student who has enrolled at UNK to complete the DO supplemental endorsement has provided proof of work experience from this/her employers.

Because the number of students completing this endorsement is low with no data collected, student generally take the class as an independent study class offered irregularly in response to demand. Students are asked to comment on the information provided, and materials and information in the class are modified as need to address the informal comments. Dr. Lear also visits with employers in the area about skills needed for today’s workplace and provides the feedback to students on a regular basis.

TOTAL: 6 credit hours will meet the minimum requirement for a supplement endorsement. In addition, 1,000 hours of work experience must be verified with the business teacher educator at UNK.

APPENDIX B - Program/Endorsement Assessment Instruments and Scoring Rubrics
ASSIGNMENTS FOR BSED 431/831P

Students are provided with the Work-based Learning Manual and complete a series of questions for selected units. In addition, they complete a number of assignments including the two listed below. Graduate students are required to write a 5 to 7-page paper on some aspect of Work-based learning. Topics are submitted and approved by the instructor.
