Scott Darveau convened the meeting and asked for nominations for Chair. Pat Cruzeiro was nominated and elected Chair. It was recommended to change the name of the committee from “Continuing Education Advisory Committee” to “eCampus Advisory Committee.” The recommendation is as follows:

Article VII.G. eCampus Advisory Committee
Reviews and makes recommendations to the office in charge of eCampus on policies, programs, and practices to ensure that they are consistent with the educational mission of the University of Nebraska at Kearney and the client groups it serves.

It was recommended to also update the composition of the committee to exclude a representative from the Rural Health Education Distance Learning Research Center since this Center no longer exists.

Darveau explained to the committee the following 2007 working charge from the Senate:

> It has come to the Senate’s attention that participation rates by eCampus/distance education students in course evaluations is quite low when compared to on-campus courses. The Faculty Senate requests that the Continuing Education Advisory Committee look into methods and mechanisms to encourage (require?) student participation in online course evaluation.
