Students: Tips for Succeeding at the Career Fair

You have your résumé in hand, you’ve read up on the employers, you’re dressed professionally, you’ve practiced your ‘elevator speech,’ and now you’re ready to go out and make a great impression. How do you start? How can you make all your preparation pay off?

- Arrive early and plan your strategy.
  - Study the map (or survey the floor from above) and decide which businesses you want to meet with first.
  - Consider a ‘practice run’ with an employer that is not at the top of your list.

- Make contacts brief, yet meaningful.
  - Smile, make eye contact, shake hands, introduce yourself with your “sales pitch.”
  - Be conversational; show interest in the person and the company they represent.
  - Ask a few questions. Examples:
    - What qualifications do you look for in the people you hire?
    - What do you like most about working for your company?
  - Don’t leave a table without knowing the next step. Will you . . .
    - Apply online?
    - Email your résumé?
    - Connect on LinkedIn?
    - Schedule an interview?
  - Ask for a business card or contact info for people you speak with.

- Be ready for a mini-interview.
  - Many employers will ask a few common interview questions. Examples:
    - “Tell me about yourself.”
    - “What interests you about our company?”
    - “What leadership experience do you have?”

- Take a break periodically.
  - After every conversation or two, take a few minutes to regroup and make notes so you remember what you talked about with different employers.
  - Use the Contacts Sheet on the next page to record important information.

- After the Fair, follow up.
  - Review your notes.
  - Complete any “next steps,” as noted above.
  - Send Thank-You letters to employers you met with.

---

“30-Second Sales Pitch” (aka “Elevator Speech”)

Approach employers with a smile. Shake hands and let them know about you and your credentials.

Example:

“Hi, my name is ___ and I am a [Senior] at UNK majoring in [Social Work]. After graduation I am hoping to obtain a position in [___], and I am especially interested in your company because of [______].”

This should get a conversation started; then you can confidently let the employer know what experience and skills you have that are relevant to his/her organization.

Tailor your introduction to each employer.

GIX Logistics

GIX's mission is not strong enough...our life's purpose (maybe too strong, but we're going with it) is to become the place where everyone wants to be. To do that we have to acknowledge certain things.

- Money isn't everything, it's a lot, but it isn't everything.
- Flexibility is important. Understanding that it's okay to push away from your desk and enjoy an office event or competition is important.
- Feeling valued, being a part of a team, gaining transferable skills, and did we mention the office atmosphere? Those are what we can offer.

Our founder built one engine at a time for his friends and neighbors, and bit by bit his business and reputation grew. Drag racers, circle track racers, and street rodders all got some of the first engines produced by BluePrint Engines. Most of us can relate to what happened next. Babies, mortgages, and a need for financial security drove our founder into the mainstream. Grocery-getters were easier to sell to a LOT more people. His success in that endeavor is also legendary. | Nebraska Department of Health & Human Services | - The Department of Health and Human Services team contributes to the lives and health of Nebraskans every day. Our mission, “Helping people live better lives,” provides the motivation to make a difference. Some DHHS programs impact all Nebraskans; for example, we educate and protect people through public health activities like ensuring clean and safe drinking water and we license and certify all health care professionals. We also touch our state’s most vulnerable citizens. Our services assist the elderly, low income and those with disabilities; we provide safety to abused and/or neglected children and vulnerable adults; and thousands of Nebraskans rely on the services of our ten 24-hour facilities. At every level of our organization, our goal is to be honest, trustworthy, competent and loyal. We strive to be transparent and accountable.

Resource Tables

UNK First Year Program - The UNK First Year Program office develops and implements a coordinated program to foster the success of all first-year students through their transition to college. First Year Program works with many academic and student departments to offer opportunities for students to learn how to take responsibility for their own education, to develop a sense of belonging to the UNK community and develop Loper Pride.
