Introducing Stellic...

Stellic is a new degree management tool UNK is utilizing to streamline course planning, facilitate exploration of different majors and minors, and connect students with various advisors.

Implementation is underway and, beginning with students on the 2023-2024 catalog moving forward, students and advisors will start using Stellic to plan their academic journeys. Join us on this transformative journey with Stellic—a tool designed to empower UNK students and advisors alike!

- Stellic is replacing Degree Works, the current degree audit system. Degree Works will be phased out in the next 12-18 months.
- Stellic can be accessed in MyBlue and on our website.

● Stellic for Advisors

Stellic makes it easy for advisors to review students' academic progress, create course plans, send messages to students and other advisors for collaboration, schedule appointments, and create custom reports-- all within one intuitive platform!

● Stellic for Students

Students will benefit from enhanced course planning tools that will help them explore majors and minors, discover new classes, and design potential paths for future semesters. Students will be able to connect with advisors across the University, send and receive messages, and build a schedule that meets their preferences.

Stellic Features

Student Progress Tracking

The student progress tab, or degree audit, shows all degree requirements and progress towards completion.

Using the Planner

The planner allows you to map out courses for future semesters. You can also add activities and extracurriculars to your plan.

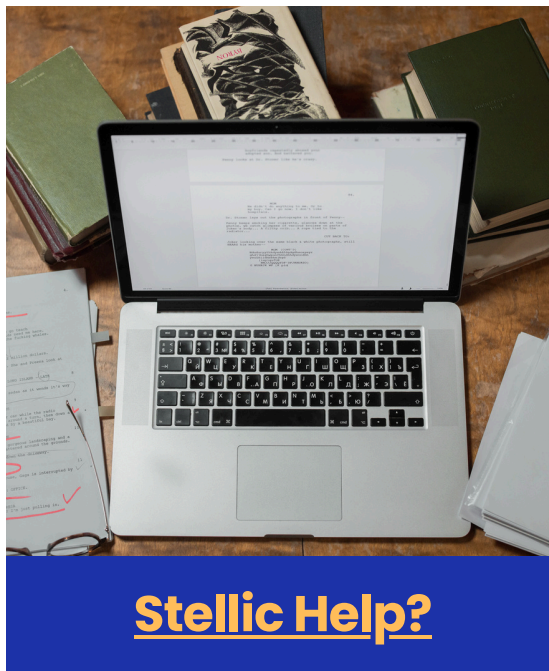

Messaging

Advisors and students can communicate using the messaging feature in Stellic.

Making Notes

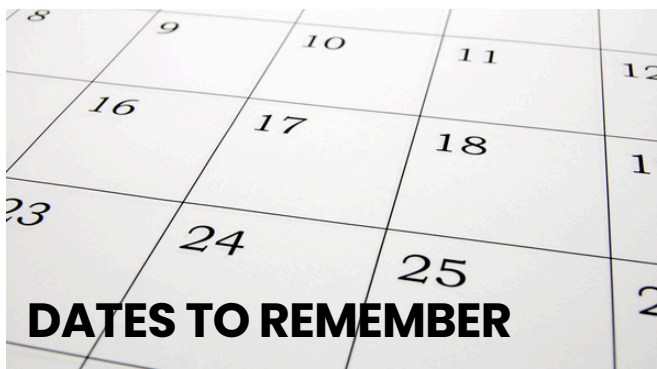

Notes can be added to an audit to log meetings, make referrals, share concerns, provide kudos, or simply add general notes.

...and so much more!
